Moving On Through 1974

"In Youth, we want to change the World;
in Old Age, we want to change the Youth."
-Bob Brown

What is past
I know,

but what is for
to come
I know not.
Apocrypha

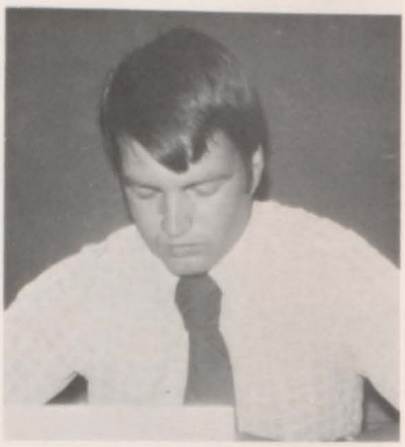

He from whose lips
divine persuasion flows.
ILLIAD; Book VII;
line 143

"To travel hopefully is a better thing than to arrive."
---Robert Louis Stevenson

"Let us no more
be true to boasted
race or clan,
But to our highest dream, the brotherhood of man."
-Thomas Curtis Clark

As long as I live
I shall always be
My Self- and no other,
Just me.

Like a tree.

Like a willow or elder,
An aspen, a thorn,
Or a cypress forlorn.

Like a flower,
For its hour
A primrose, a pink,
Or a violet-
Sunned by the sun,
And with dewdrops wet.

Always just me

WHEN I WAS SIX

When I was only six years old,
  Heigh-ho! for Folly O!
I wandered in a fairy fold,
  Heigh holly! to and fro.

I rode upon a blossom's back
  Up hill and over sea,
And all the little pixie pack
  For fun would follow me.

O, golden was the gown I wore
  Of buttercups and air,
And twenty diamond stars or more
  Were pinned upon my hair.

All day I chased the laughing sky
  Above the busy town,
But when the moon unwinked her eye,
  Ho, ho! I hurried down.

And then within the baby's shoe
  I hid my lady's pearls,
From maid to merry maid I flew
  And knotted all their curls.

And when the children were abed,
  I tapped the window pane,
And laughed as someone softly said:
  "Whist, goblins there again!"

Ho, ho! I flitted here and there
  Amid my elfin band,
While on the green in frolic fair,
  We tripped it hand in hand.

As air and moonlight I was free
  Within that fairy fold,
For all the world belonged to me
  When I was six years old.

Nothing I cared, in the lamb white days, that time would take me
Up to the swallow thronged loft by the shadow of my hand,
In the moon that is always rising,
Nor that riding to sleep
I should hear him fly with the high fields
And wake to the farm forever fled from the childless land
Oh as I was young and easy in the mercy of his means,
Time held me green and dying
Though I sang in my chains like the sea.

From "Fern Hill"
by Dylan Thomas

"Who knows the thoughts of a child?"
Nora Perry

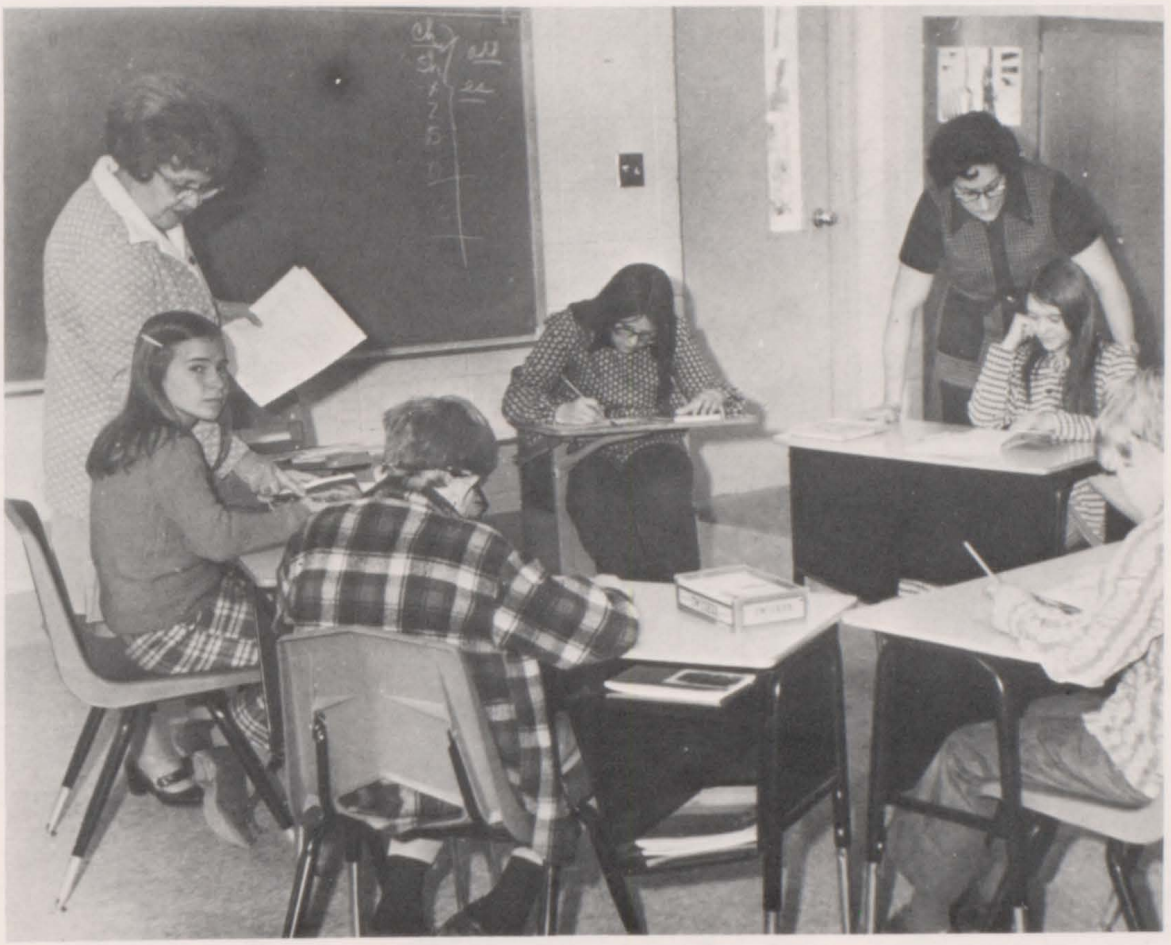

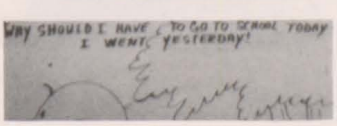

"Tomorrow belongs to the children;
The children belong to us all,
So let us live like the children,
And live like tomorrow is now."

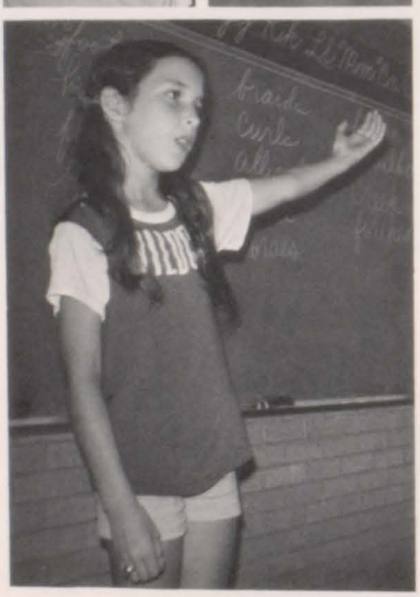

"Bless the beasts and the children . . ."
