Academics

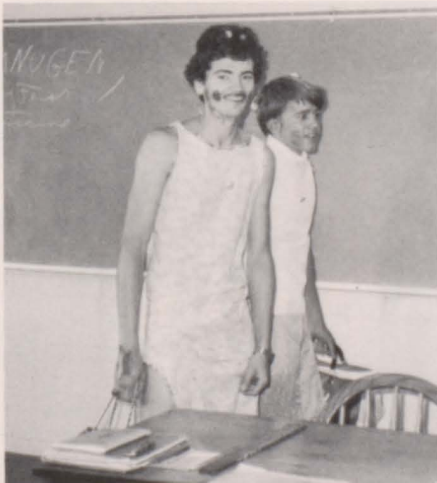

Agriculture

Mr. Cantrell teaches the agriculture classes at Hartville High. The students get to work in shop building various farm projects. The classes he teaches are: Agriculture Structure, Farm Power II, Advanced Crop Production, Animal Science, Plant Science, Farm Marketing, and Agriculture Marketing.

Mr. Cantrell also sponsors the Future Farmers of America.

Steve Cantrell

Art

Jimmy Marler

Mr. Marler not only uses his artistic abilities to instruct art students in drawing, he also assisted with various art projects this year. There were many different projects ranging from tooth-pick art to making puppets out of socks and other materials, then putting on small plays. Besides the students making these projects, they were also given a few pointers on photography.

Business

Nancy Jones

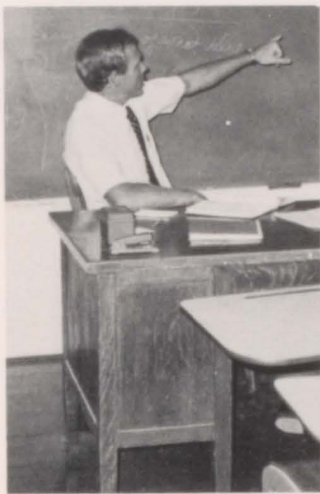

The Business classes at Hartville are all very valuable to students who plan a career in Business. For students who are planning a career in Business, Typing, General Business, Business Math, and Business Law will help them after graduation for their own personal use.

Mrs. Jones teaches Shorthand, Clerical Office Practice, and Accounting. Typing, which is taught by both Mr. and Mrs. Jones, involves learning the keyboard and how to type letters, tables, and reports.

Mr. Jones also teaches General Business, Business Math, and Business Law.

Gary Jones

Developmental Learning

Marjorie Sullens

The developmental learning classes are taught by Mrs. Sullens. These classes are designed to assist students who need special help in specific areas. Each student receives individual attention in order to assist them in attaining their highest educational achievements.

Driver's Education

Denny Hunt

Our Drivers' Education course at H. H. S. is taught by Mr. Hunt. In this class students spend six weeks in the classroom studying the rules of the highway and the car. To give students a little driving knowledge, they receive actual on-the-road driving experience. All in all, this class helps students become better and safer drivers.

English, Speech and Drama

Mrs. Dryer teaches students correct grammar in her English I class. A more extensive study of English can be found in her Appreciation of Literature class. Speech and Drama students learn how to speak properly and how to act correctly in plays.

Mrs. Dryer also teaches Communications, a review of English and business communication skills, and Introduction to Literature, where the students study writings from different time periods.

Bobbie Ann Dryer

Linda Roller

English Literature and German

Mrs. Roller, her second year here, has taken on many responsibilities. She teaches Poetry/Great Books, Short Stories/American Novels, Practical English/Word Study, German and sponsors German Club. She is also sponsor of the cheerleaders and Pep Club. She has been a big help in getting our school spirit back after so many years.

Home Economics

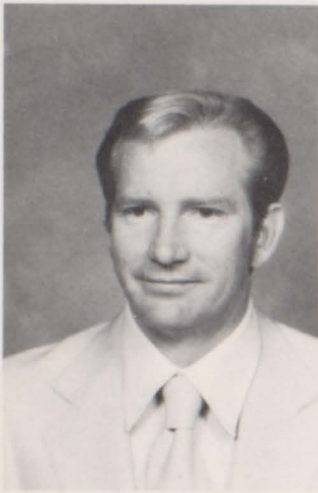

Paula Nelson

Mrs. Nelson teaches the Home Economics classes. Home Ec I teaches students the basics about serving, cooking, and nutrition. Housing and Interior Design advises students on the selection, use, and care of home furnishings and equipment. Consumer Education deals with budgeting and spending plans, consumer rights and responsibilities, and the relationship of students to plan good meals and to improve family's health. Family Relations/Child Care helps students get ready for family life and helps young people in dating and parenthood. Clothing helps students to choose clothes that look right on them and also make their own clothes. Contemporary Living helps students to live on their own. Mrs. Nelson is also the sponsor for the FHA.

Industrial Arts

Keith Pellham

The Industrial Arts program, skillfully directed by Mr. Pellham, is a great learning experience. The courses consist of General Shop, Woodworking, Drafting, and Power Mechanics. After working in the classroom for half a semester to learn the basic skills, the students are then allowed to work on projects of their preference. These projects may be put on display at the Summit Conference Contest at the end of the school year.

Library

Mrs. Carr, the school librarian, divides her time between both the Hartville and Grovespring libraries. She helps the children from each school find information from books and magazines and teaches them how to use the library correctly.

Although Mrs. Carr works very hard, she also has much help from her student librarians. They, along with doing some of the same things as Mrs. Carr, clean up the library by straightening chairs and putting books and magazines in their correct places.

Left to Right. Back Row - K. Jennings, M. Robertson, S. Atkisson, S. Schmidt, T. Atterberry, C. Carroll, C. Fullington, C. Sheldon. Front Row - J. Todd, D. Jones, T. Jones, D. Houska, L. Atkisson, T. Stone, C. Burris, G. Coday, T. Hedrick.

Math

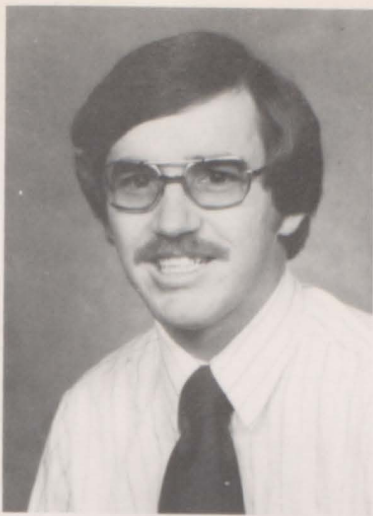

Mary Lea Brown

Without the help of Mrs. Brown, the math students couldn't get very far with their problems. The courses included are Basic Math, Algebra I and II, and Geometry.

Basic Math deals with a review of the basic fundamentals while Algebra I deals with solving equations and working with ordered pairs. In Geometry, the students work proofs by applying theorems. Algebra II is a class where the students work with the squaring of equations, logarithms, and hyperbolas.

Students also participate in the District Math Contest in the Spring.

Terry Wheatley

Music

The music department, under the direction of Miss Compton and Mr. Wheatley, has worked hard this year.

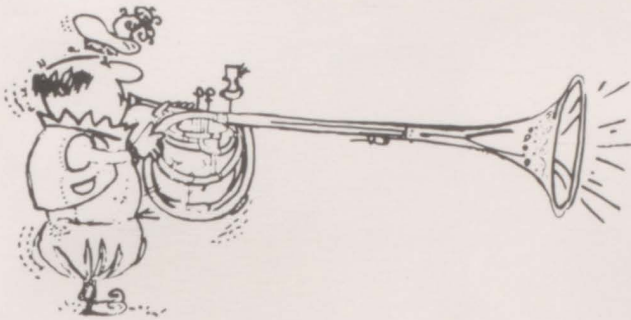

The band won First place in the Mansfield Christmas parade and the Hartville Christmas parade.

The vocal department added something new to the Fall Concert. The new "Swing Choir" was enjoyed greatly by the audience. They received a standing ovation after their performance.

During the second semester, both departments will be busy getting ready for the District Music Festival.

Lynn Compton

Physical Education

The girls' P.E. class is taught by Mrs. Dickinson. This year they have played softball, soccer, kickball, and basketball. Before playing the games they have exercises to do.

The boys' P.E. classes are taught by Mr. Marcus. They have played basketball, warball and other games to keep them in shape. Before playing these games, they exercised.

Mr. Hunt is in charge of the boys basketball team. He also teaches health, a class which deals with the human body and related functions.

Denny Hunt

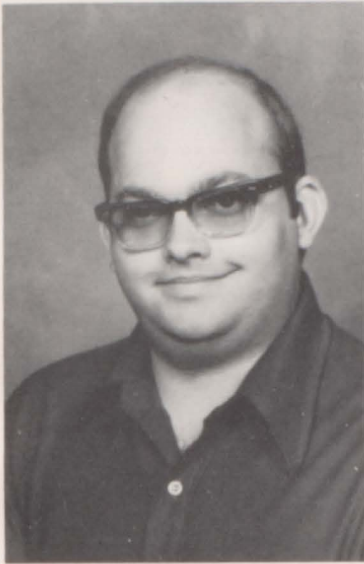

Martha Dickinson

Bill Marcus

Science

Terry Burns

Mr. Burns, a new member of the Hartville teaching staff, teaches the science classes provided at HHS. They are physical science, biology I and II, and chemistry. Members of Science Club and some of the other science students will be preparing for the science contest this spring.

Social Studies

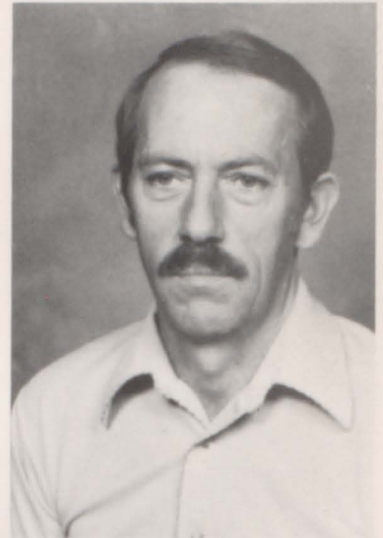

Galen Dixon

Mr. Dixon is a new teacher this year. As well as being the girls' coach, he also teaches Contemporary Issues, which is focused on current events and problems, and World History, which involves the study of the growth of the world surrounding us.

Mr. Ault is another one of our new teachers this year. He teaches American History, which helps students understand the development of the U.S. from the Civil War to the present. He also teaches Sociology-Psychology, which is about the working of a group and individual behavior.

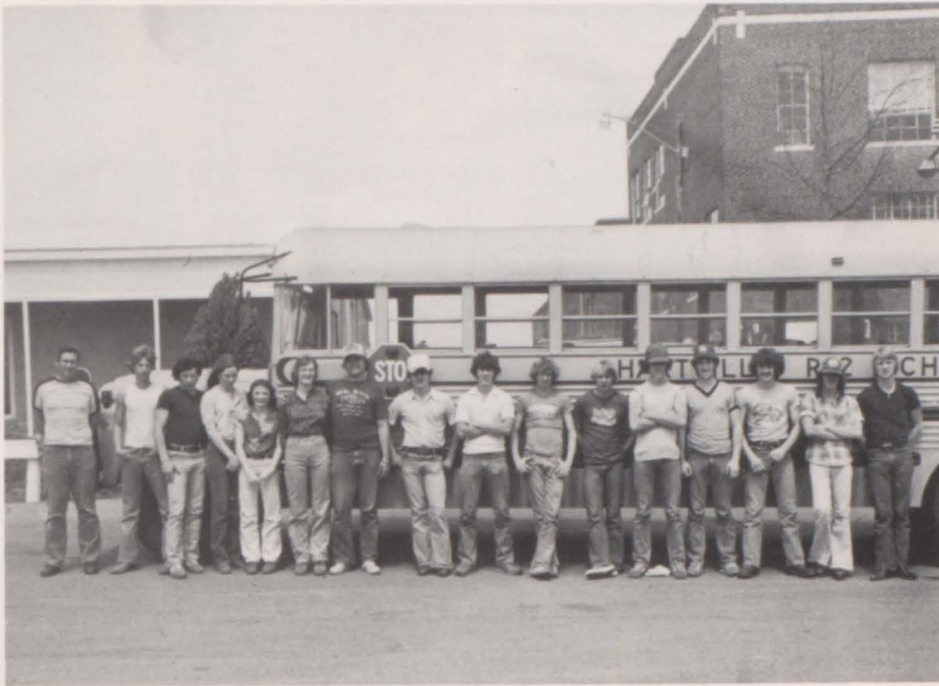

Mr. Jones teaches Geography, which is the study of the world and its culture. He is pictured on the Business page.

John Ault

Vo-Tech

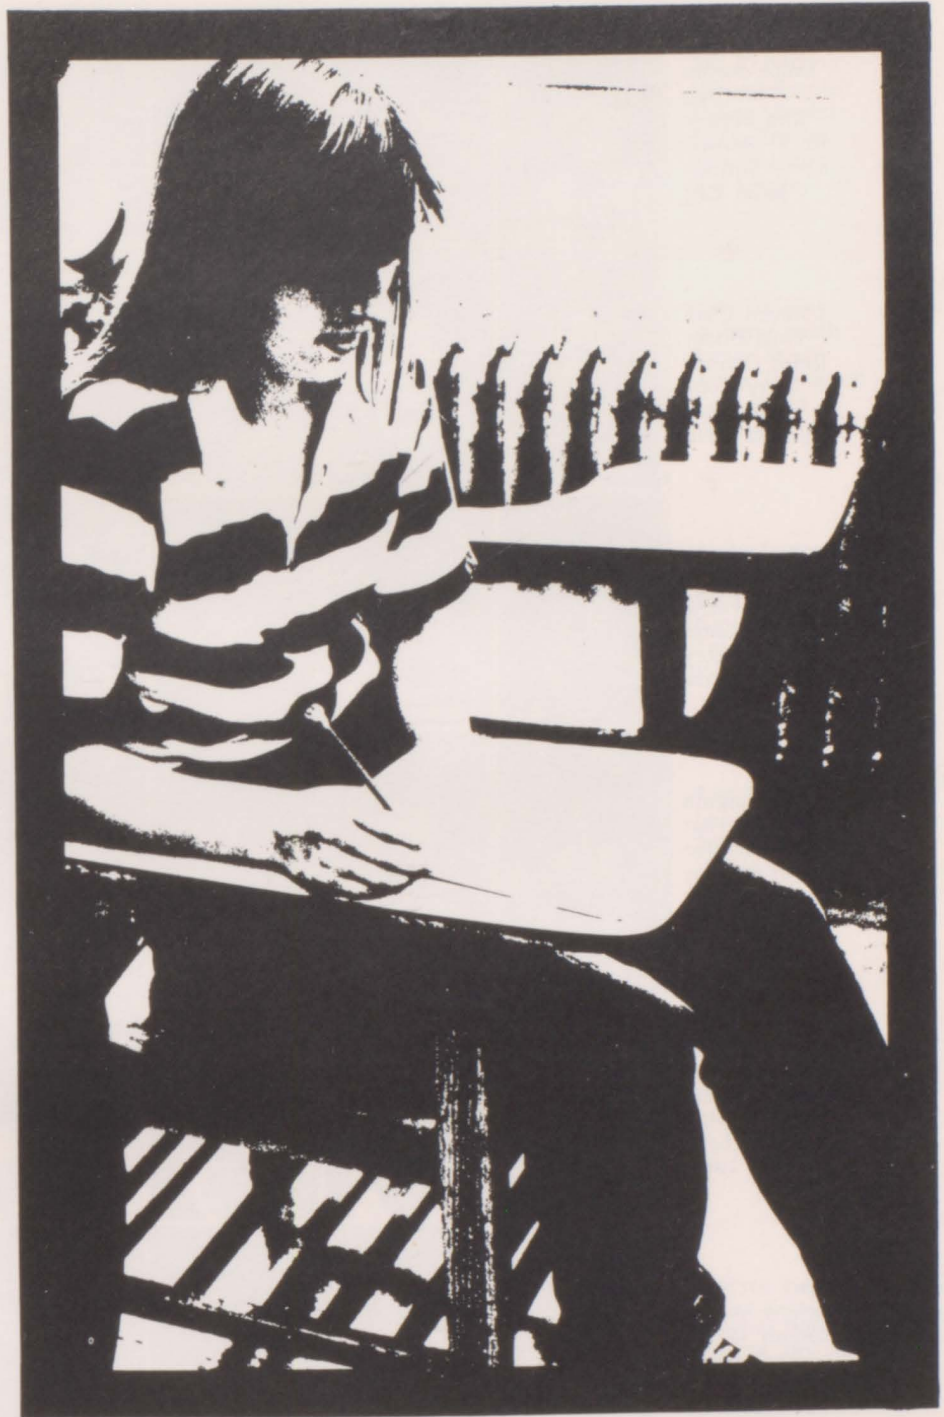

L to R - R. McDaris, Driver, J. Willhite, J. Simmons, S. Perkins, C. McNealy, J. Dierks, M. Kelly, D. Cottengim, T. Lansdown, R. Dugger, P. Young, K. Young, J. Hutson, J. Hutson, R. Hall, T. Coday

Students taking Vo-Tech go to Lebanon High School to the Vocational school there. While there they learn many practical skills in such fields as auto mechanics, auto body, machine shop, and refrigeration. Before going to shop they have classroom work to do first. After that they go to shop and get practice in class. In auto mechanics and auto body they learn auto maintenance and car restoration. In refrigeration they work on refrigeration and air conditioners.
